Facebook Facebook C-a-t-a-n is a board game that first appeared in Germany in the late 1950s, and has since become one of the most popular games of its kind. The objective of the game is to have the most territory by collecting the most victory points at the end of the game. Players take turns drafting cards from a deck to place them on the board and then move, build and trade resources. Catan is played on a hexagonal board, consisting of two rows of hexagons each divided into four smaller hexagons. Each player has four islands, one on each row. Each hexagon consists of one tile bearing a value; the six space tiles are not used. The board is a reflection of the real world, with the "island" representing land. Each tile space on the board represents a city and resources: wood, sheep, stone, wheat, brick and sand. Sheep and wool can be used to build houses, wheat and grain for roads, houses and temples.
